

Overhead Gowns

McKesson Overhead Gowns, also known as isolation gowns, are designed to help protect healthcare professionals during medical procedures in the operating room. They are made of various materials to help ensure fluid protection and feature two different designs for personal preference. The apron closure/open back design maintains the user's coolness during work performance. The full back design provides front and back body coverage without sacrificing protection. McKesson Overhead Gowns are also available in a premium option that has an AAMI rating to ensure greater resistance of strikethrough.

Features and Benefits

- Thumb loop style to help ensure wrist coverage
- Available in various styles of cuffs, closures, colors and back designs
- Individually folded and packaged in dispenser box
- Not made with natural rubber latex
